Points of Pride/Core Values

Students at FCHS create a culture of Acceptance, Pride, Integrity, Respect, and Responsibility. These principles are ingrained in the school's culture and displayed by the Pillars of Excellence that hang in our halls. FCHS has a diverse student body and coordinates the only high school-sponsored Diversity Conference in Northern Colorado.

Students challenge each other to look for the best in others, dream big, choose positive influences, speak kindness, and start their own chain reaction.

Freshmen at FCHS are enrolled in a yearlong Seminar course, Lambkin Way, which is designed to promote a successful transition between middle school and high school. The course provides students with opportunities for academic enrichment and assistance, improvement of organizational, study and communication skills, and promotion of FCHS school-wide expectations, goals and activities.
